

ABSTRACT

A surface-treating process and a forming process in which an inner surface of a vacuum member is mechanically polished in the presence of a liquid medium including no hydrogen atom.